

Including a partner form

If you have applied for a social housing assessment and your partner is not going to be signing the tenancy agreement, your partner needs to provide some additional information.

What you need to do

You must answer questions 1 – 8.

Your partner must answer questions 9 – 32 in this form.

You both need to:

- read and complete the obligations and privacy section (pages 11 to 12)
- make an appointment with Work and Income
- bring some documents to your appointment. Talk to us if you or your partner do not have the documents, have given them to us recently or if there might be a delay getting them.

What you need to bring

Proof of who you are

Please bring identification that you have given us before, such as a driver licence or passport, or Community Services Card.

What your partner needs to bring

Proof of who your partner is:

If they were born in New Zealand, bring one type of official identification that has their full legal name and their date of birth (for example, their birth certificate, passport, driver licence, firearms licence, deed poll).

If they were born overseas, bring proof that they have a right to live in New Zealand (for example, a citizenship certificate, a New Zealand passport, a passport from another country with residence class visa or proof of permanent residence).

If their name has changed, bring a marriage certificate, deed poll, or other proof of the name change.

Two more documents that help to prove who they are (for example, a marriage certificate, bank statement, phone or power account, driver licence).

A form or letter from Inland Revenue showing their tax number.

Proof of their bank account details, such as a bank statement or deposit slip.

One of the documents your partner brings must be at least two years old.

INFORMATION NOTE:
Documents need to be originals, or copies of documents that have been certified as a true copy by a Solicitor/Lawyer, Notary Public, Registrar of the Court or Justice of the Peace.

What both of you need to bring

Depending on your partner's answers you both may also need to bring the following documents. We also tell you what to bring in the form - look for the :

	For you	For your partner
Proof of your assets and their value.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
Proof of payments, if you receive a benefit, allowance or pension from overseas.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
Full birth certificates for each dependent child in your care.	<input type="checkbox"/>
Your marriage or civil union certificate, for your relationship.	<input type="checkbox"/>
Your business accounts, if you have your own business.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
Proof of any before-tax income for the 52 weeks before the application (for example, wages, holiday pay and any other income).	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
Trust documents, if you are involved in a trust (for example, trust deed, deed of debt, gift statements, accounts).	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>

You must give us all the information we need.

If you do not have all the information we need, talk with us and we may be able to help.

If we find out later that any information you give us is not true, or that you knew information you should have told us and did not tell us, this may affect your eligibility for social housing or your priority on the social housing register. You might need to pay money back, we may impose a penalty, and you could be prosecuted.

Including a partner obligations and privacy

Each person who completes this form needs to read and complete the obligations and privacy section.

This part of the application form:

- lists the obligations for the applicant and partner
- explains what will happen if obligations are not met
- includes a signature page for you and your partner to sign
- explains how we protect the information given to us, and what we can do with it.

Obligations

Change in circumstances

I understand that while I'm a social housing tenant with an income-related rent, I must tell the Ministry of Social Development immediately if either my partner (if I have one) or I have changes that might affect my rate of income-related rent.

I understand that I also have to let the Ministry of Social Development know about changes in circumstances of other tenants in my household and their partners that might affect my rate of income-related rent.

I understand that these changes include:

- other people moving in or moving out of the property I am renting
- work situation changes
- relationship changes
- leaving New Zealand for any length of time
- a child that comes into or leaves my/our care
- changes to income or financial circumstances
- receiving other help that changes my situation
- changes in names, contact details, or the name of a child in my/our care
- my partner (if I have one) or I moving out of the property I am renting.

What happens if you don't tell us about changes in your circumstances

I understand that if I don't tell the Ministry of Social Development about changes in circumstances while I'm a social housing tenant and paying an income-related rent, that:

- my rate of income-related rent may be reviewed and go up or down
- I may have to pay the difference between any higher rate of income-related rent that should have been calculated for me and the rate of income-related rent that was calculated for me for any earlier period of time
- I may be prosecuted and fined and/or imprisoned
- I may not have housing that best meets my needs
- I may no longer be eligible for social housing at all.

Privacy Statement

The legislation administered by the Ministry of Social Development allows us to check the information that you give us. This may happen when you apply for social housing and at any time after that. The Privacy Act 1993 means we have to tell you why we collect the information and what we will do with it.

Why we collect information

The information you give us or your social housing provider is collected by the Ministry of Social Development (including Work and Income, Senior Services, StudyLink and other service lines of the Ministry) to administer the Social Security Act 1964, the New Zealand Superannuation and Retirement Income Act 2001, and the Housing Restructuring and Tenancy Matters Act 1992, and in particular for:

- working out if you are eligible for social housing, and your need and priority for housing assistance
- calculating your rate of income-related rent
- working out what type of house you and your family need
- providing housing options and advice and related services
- statistical and research purposes
- providing advice to government
- reviewing benefits/pensions and other assistance.

The information will be held by the Ministry of Social Development and/or your social housing provider.

The Ministry of Social Development and your social housing provider will exchange information about you in order to provide you with your correct rate of income-related rent and the most appropriate type of housing.

The Ministry of Social Development is not involved in the tenant/landlord relationship you have with your social housing provider.

We may contact health providers

The Ministry of Social Development may contact health providers to check any health-related information you give us in relation to the type of housing you need. This may happen if you require a modified home as a result of your or another household member's disability.

We may compare the information you give us with other government-held information

The information you give the Ministry of Social Development or your social housing provider may be compared with information held by other government agencies such as Inland Revenue, the Ministry of Justice, the Department of Corrections, the New Zealand Customs Service, the Department of Internal Affairs, the Accident Compensation Corporation, Ministry of Health and the Ministry of Business, Innovation and Employment. It may also be compared with social security information (for example, pension or benefit information) held by other governments (including Australia and the Netherlands).

We may use your information to give you a better service

The Ministry of Social Development may use other information that you give us or your social housing provider that is not required to assess your eligibility for social housing or income-related rent (for example, your wish to move to other housing or need for other housing assistance) to provide a better service to you.

You have the right to see and correct your information

Under the Privacy Act 1993 you have the right to ask to see all information we hold about you, and to ask us to correct that information.

Signature page

By signing this form:

- I understand that the information I have provided will be used to work out my eligibility for social housing, my need and priority for social housing assistance, my housing requirements, and to calculate my income-related rent.
- I have read (or had explained to me) and understood my obligations and what will happen if I do not meet my obligations.
- I have read (or had explained to me) and understood the Privacy Statement contained in this form.
- I understand my responsibility to let the Ministry of Social Development know about any changes in circumstances, including changes in my circumstances or those of my partner (if I have one) and the circumstances of other tenants in my household and their partners, and understand what will happen if I do not do this.
- I understand that if I have applied for financial assistance for bond and/or rent in advance and if I am eligible at the time of placement, this will be paid to the social housing provider if I accept the offer of a social housing property.
- The information I have provided in this form is true and complete.
